STATE CAPITAL NOTES.

Final Report of the U. S. Grand Jury—Trennor Coffin indicted—The Jones Case—Stone vs. the Western Union Telegraph Company.
(Correspondence of the Journal.)
CARSON CITY, March 30, 1896.

The opening case in the court this morning was that of Stone vs. the Western Union Telegraph Company, for $5,190 damages claimed for failure to send and deliver a telegram from Wadsworth, Nevada, to Cantrill, Ohio. Clarke & Jones, for plaintiff, and Torreyson & Summerfield and Evans & Rogers for defendant. It was a jury trial.

Clarence Stone testified to being a resident of Cantrill county, and employed on a ranch seven miles from Stillwater, when on November 6, 1893, a messenger from the telegraph station at Stillwater brought him a telegram from his father at Cantrill, saying that his dear sister was on her deathbed and longed to see him before she passed away. He rode to Wadsworth immediately, arriving at 4 o'clock next morning. At 8 o'clock, when the office opened, he sent a telegram to his father as follows: "Will leave for home this evening and be with you on Saturday."

The operator took the message at the regular tariff rate of 75 cents, and also took 50 cents extra to insure delivery. Plaintiff arrived home in time to see relatives and friends return from the funeral of his sister.

But the proposition now is, that if his telegram from Wadsworth had been delivered as sent he would have been immediately notified of the sister's death, and the not absolute necessity for making the trip. It cost him about $100 in cash, loss of employment, trouble and anguish of mind, an estimated total of $5,190, the sum stated.

The case was ably presented and managed by Attorney Rogers of Salt Lake, and General Clarke did the opposition.

His Honor finally decided to dismiss the case from lack of conclusive evidence on the part of plaintiff, it not being squarely proven whether the telegram was received at the other end of the line or not. And the case was simply dismissed without prejudice. It can be brought up again when better prepared. There is no question as to the responsibility of the corporation and its liability for failure of duty or neglect of agents.

The case of Johnny Jones came up, and after a brief argument as to the time most convenient for the attorneys for the defense, his Honor deferred the matter till 10 A. M. to-morrow, stating that if the case was not ready next Monday or before he would lay it over till the next term of court. The prosecution was ready now to proceed.

At 2:30 o'clock P. M. the United States Grand Jury came into court in due form. Foreman Logan presented the final report of the jury, which simply included the finding of a true bill of indictment against Trennor Coffin. It was simply on the affidavit filed by Circe several weeks ago, stating that Coffin gave him $100 to give to Langevin. The indictment alleges that on or about April 25, 1895, while the trial of James Heney was pending, Trennor Coffin did corruptly and feloniously obstruct and impede the due administration of Justice by paying $100 for the purpose of influencing Joseph Langevin to not appear in the United States District Court and testify, and also to avoid the service of a subpoena.

This ending the services of the Grand Jury His Honor discharged them for the term with appropriate thankful and complimentary remarks. United States District Attorney Jones here interposed with a few remarks about the ohimerical troublesome Langevin. He had been subpoenaed to appear before the Grand Jury this day, and had done so an hour ago, as a witness, but he had stubbornly refused to give any testimony whatever against Coffin, Brule, Circe, the devil or anybody else. They couldn't do anything with him. He remarked that he hadn't been properly treated and compensated and wasn't going to give himself or any body else away without suitable consideration. His Honor ruled that the report of the jury did not include this bit of infraction, therefore it was too late for consideration in connection.

Jones claimed that it was a clear and flagrant case of contempt of court, through the Grand Jury, which was part of the court, and he should insist upon proper punishment. His Honor stated that the only way to get at it now was by an affidavit, bringing it before the court. This Jones at once stated that he would personally and promptly attend to, and it will be done.

Items of Interest From Here, There and Everywhere.

The Keystone mines in Lincoln county, Nevada, have been leased to Denver parties, who will spend $100,000 in settling up the debts of the company and adding to the plant.

The bicycle manufacturers are expecting to sell about 800,000 of those vehicular contrivances this year, the aggregate cost of which to the purchasers will be not less than $50,000,000.

The Silver State says two sections of a large water wheel have arrived at Winnemucca. The wheel is to furnish power for the quartz mill which C. Derby is putting up on Bartlett Creek.

The Times says fourteen carloads of potatoes were shipped from Dayton last week by Italian ranchers on the river. They were shipped to Sacramento and the price paid is $3 and $9. Twelve tons are shipped to a carload.

"If these reformers keep on doctoring the election laws much more, they will get them in such shape that a fellow can't turn an honest penny on election day," remarked an anti-reformer after reading the Nevada Purity of Election law a day or two.—Eureka Sentinel.

And now it is said the Salt Lake & Pacific Railroad Company with a capital of $2,000,000 will build a road from Salt Lake City through the Deep Creek country to Maudie, Nevada, and the grading will be commenced within sixty days. The Utah & California Company, with a capital of $5,000,000 will build from Salt Lake to Los Angeles.

The Austin Mining Company, P. T. Farnsworth, manager, will erect a mill of 60 to 100 tons capacity on the property, located near Austin, Nevada. It will be located at the mouth of the tunnel, which is now in 5,000 feet, and will be driven 1,500 feet further. The ground of the company is a perfect network of veins about 20 having been cut thus far by the tunnel. All of these show pay ore, and will be developed when the tunnel is completed.

The Sentinel says the Ruby Tunnel & Mining Company at its annual meeting last week elected the following trustees for the ensuing year: R. Sadler, C. L. Brody, P. H. Hjal, Abe Laird and Morris Hartnett. At a subsequent meeting of the newly elected trustees they elected the following as their officers: R. Sadler, President; P. H. Hjal, Vice President; B. F. McEwen, Secretary and Treasurer. Abe Laird was selected as Superintendent.

THE LATE STORM.

It Was Heavy and Welcome From the Summit East Through Nevada.

L. A. Blakeslee, who is here from Humboldt visiting his family, says the rainstorm last week was one of the heaviest experienced for years on the Humboldt. The deserts north of the river have been converted into lakes. The benefit to the range is almost incalculable. At Lovelock, where the farmers were very despondent because of the low stage of water in the Humboldt, it has done a vast amount of good, and another rain in May will insure a good grain crop.

The Elko Independent notes that the storm was quite heavy on the Upper Humboldt and considerable snow fell in the mountains, and the hopes of ranchers and stockmen have raised. Nine or ten inches of snow in Tuscarora, and no doubt the snowfall in the mountains at the head of the Humboldt was still greater.

The Republican says the storm was the most severe of the winter at Truckee, 22 inches of snow having fallen. Had this storm come in January it would have made a success of the Truckee Ice Palace, and been worth many thousands of dollars to the people of Truckee.

The Susanville Advocate says the hearts of the farmers have been made glad by a succession of rainy days and nights that have been of inestimable value to Honey Lake Valley. The favorable weather of the past two months enabled farmers to get in their grain, and in many instances the rains of the last week will insure good crops.

Reno Dramatic Club.

This organization, composed of some of the leading talent of Reno, will present Taylors' great military drama, "Won Back," at the Opera House on Tuesday evening, April 7th. The formation of a club of this nature has long been in the minds of the promoters, having for its object the presentation of standard plays at such times as are found best suited, the proceeds to be devoted to local organizations needing and deserving such support.

"Won Back" is the first play to be given and the proceeds will go to the students' gymnasium fund.

E. C. Harris sold a fine Waverly bicycle yesterday. He is agent for this wheel and parties considering the purchase of a bicycle cannot do better than to read the Waverly advertisement in the JOURNAL and consult the local agent Mr. Harris.

The San Francisco Call says the Board of Directors of the Hale & Norcross mine has decided to send H. W. Tangerman back to Virginia as Superintendent of the mine, and Tangerman says he is quite ready to go. He says he is not afraid, and had they not taken him at a complete disadvantage they would not have succeeded as they did, as he was fully "healed."
